

SHEENA MAYERS-GRANVILLE

On September 1, 2017, the Barbados Employers' Confederation (BEC) welcomed Mrs. Sheena Mayers-Granville to assume the leadership of the organisation as Executive Director. The first female to hold this position.

Sheena is a human resources and industrial relations professional with over 10 years of experience who is dedicated to the pursuit of excellence. Her passion for people development is pursued through teaching in the Executive Diploma programme at the Sagicor Cave Hill School of Business.

Sheena's diverse portfolio of projects includes conducting labour market research, writing newspaper and magazine articles, chairing tripartite committees, preparing guidance on various labour issues and leading organisational development initiatives.

During the period March 2011 – May 2015, Sheena held the position of Labour Management Advisor with the BEC, which saw her heavily involved in the management and negotiation of Collective Labour Agreements amongst other responsibilities.

Sheena holds a Masters in Labour and Employment Relations, a BSc in Management and a Level 4 CVQ in Assessment. She is a member of the Society of Human Resources Management and the Human Resources Management Association of Barbados.
